DECISIVE ACTION.

There is one thing possible in the pres ent state of affairs on the New York Central which will bring the relief so greatly desired by the public and by the strikers. If the State Board of Arbitration institutes a proper investigation of the reasons which led to the discharge of the employees of the road the knot will be cut which is now tiemg up so many interests. The State Board is not only authorized to conduct such an investigation and empowered to subpoens witnesses and compel them to answer the questions the Board may direct to them, but the words of the statute are mandatory in their

The law says that in case of a lockout or strike occurring or threatening, it "shall be the duty of the Board, and it is hereby directed to proceed as soon as practicable to the locality of such strike or lockout, and to put itself in communication with the parties to the controversy.

Here the State Board is not only told that it is its duty to investigate such a state of things, but "it is hereby directed" to do so, and to do so promptly, "as soon as practicable."

It would seem as if there was no differetion left to the State Board of Arbitration in this matter. 'It would also seem as if an investigation by it would settle the main point in dispute, viz, The cause of dismissal of the discharged employees. Now, the investigation?

PREPARATORY SEASONS.

The preparatory season which comes in the theatrical world before the opening of the theatres for the regular work of the year has something analogous in the Well into the second half of August there frequently comes a sharp chilly spell which could figure at the end of October or beginning of November without seeming in the least out of place.

Saturday the town was stricken with a masty cold streak of weather which made the thermometer crawl into its boots and drove the shivering town into heavy flannels and top-coats.

No climatic aberration can affect the American mind, though one may set his scutter and intends to devote himself more to bubbling blood congealing or thaw his freezing body into a warm liquifaction. With Montans in the back-ground, any thing may occur in the line of weather.

These meteorological caprices hit the watering-places and the excursion business the hardest. 18 IT DESIRABLE?

The American love of sport makes the contest for supremacy in powers of speed which is waged so hotly by the crack ocean steamers a most interesting one. But the doubt arises whether it is altogether advisable for boats with hundreds of passengers on board to permit themselves a diversion which imperils the safety of those passengers or detracts notably from their comfort.

It is not good to wait for some awful ocean steamship disaster before any attention is given to this subject. passenger on one of the big racers which fore across the Atlantic lately says that the saloon was so hot at times that it had to be deserted, and that despite protest on the part of several the terrific pressure was maintained.

Most transatiantic travellers are not pressed for time. Speed is not regarded as so greatly desirable in order to arrive more quickly. The glory of victory in a race is almost the sole motive. Better "go slow" and be safe.

What can be more fair than that the moneys collected on an ocean steamer for disabled seamen by the efforts of a passenger, but almost entirely American should be at least evenly divided between English of man little brothers the hills in the glocal of man little brothers the hills in the glocal. and American institutions for mariners? The captain of the Umbria insisted on the whole proceeds going to a British asylum. whole proceeds going to a British asylum.

The Americans resented this, and no concert was given. The Captain's excuse that American sailors are better provided for when disabled than British tars in the same plight is not sufficient. The lone's touch and and are provided for when disabled than British tars in the same plight is not sufficient. The in the same plight is not sufficient. The American passengers were right in rescuting this high-handed procedure, so much in keeping with the general line of conduct on the Cunard boats.

The fatal shooting accidents which are constantly reported are ground for the most honest indignation. A man fooling with a pistol was requested by a woman present not to fire it and others begged im to be careful with it. It went of -Heavens, the exasperation of that!-and er the woman was killed!
